Personal Profile

I am a highly passionate nerd, and results-driven technology leader with 7+ years of experience in driving strategic initiatives, implementing innovative solutions, and building high-performing Teams.

As a manager, I am always looking for combining technical excellence with an attractive and functional product, to maximise the customer satisfaction.

I have always had a passion for entrepreneurship and startups, and in recent months I have had the opportunity to try my hand at these fascinating realities.

During my career I have been able to work not only in tech areas but also in finance, privacy and cybersecurity.

Experience

ID Modular

Lugano, CH

ID Modular is a startup aiming to create a new low-code/no-code platform in the digital identity world. Our goal is to make the Know Your Business / Customer (KYC / KYB) process creation extremely easy and affordable for other startups which need it. Even changing it later on would be as complex as a few clicks.
